The University of Arkansas Grantham

About University of Arkansas Grantham

Celebrating its 75th anniversary in 2026, the University of Arkansas Grantham has a long, rich history. The institution that would eventually become UA Grantham started out as a technical school for veterans and evolved over time to become a pioneer and leader in continuing education.

Early Years and Focus on Distance Education: 1951-1999

Founded in Los Angeles, California, in 1951 by World War II veteran Donald Grantham, the institution began as the Grantham Radio License School. Its initial mission was to help returning service members who relied on education benefits to acquire the skills and certifications needed for careers in the growing fields of electronics and communications.

The school quickly embraced distance education to serve a geographically dispersed, non-traditional student population, including military members and working adults. It expanded its physical presence with campuses in cities like Washington, D.C., and Kansas City, Missouri, in the 1950s.

In 1961, it achieved accreditation from the Distance Education and Training Council (now the Distance Education Accrediting Commission, or DEAC) and was renamed the Grantham School of Electronics. By 1976, Donald Grantham shifted the institution's focus exclusively to distance education, discontinuing residential operations.

Throughout the 1980s and 1990s, the institution, then Grantham College of Engineering, continued to expand its program offerings to include associate and bachelor degrees in fields like electronics engineering technology and computer science.

Transition to Full Online Learning and Relocation: 2000-2020

A major milestone occurred in 2000 when Grantham began offering its degree programs exclusively online. In 2002, it was renamed Grantham University.

The university's resilience was tested in 2005 when Hurricane Katrina severely damaged its main campus in Slidell, Louisiana. Demonstrating remarkable adaptability, the university relocated and restarted operations in temporary offices in Kansas City, Missouri. Grantham University would remain in the Kansas City metropolitan area for more than 15 years.

Joining the University of Arkansas System: 2021 - Present

In 2021, the University of Arkansas System Board of Trustees unanimously voted to acquire Grantham University. This move, finalized on November 1, 2021, merged Grantham with the System's existing online initiative, eVerty, and officially established the University of Arkansas Grantham.

A public, not-for-profit online university based in Little Rock, Arkansas, UA Grantham now serves adult learners worldwide, offering certificate, associate, bachelors, and masters degrees programs delivered completely online, and relying on a workforce of more than 200 adjunct faculty members and 125 staff distributed throughout the United States.

The integration into Arkansas' premier public university system has strengthened UA Grantham, allowing it to continue and provide high-quality, affordable education to non-traditional students, backed by a strong reputation and a sustained commitment to its founding mission of serving non-traditional students.

Congratulations 2025 Graduates

Dear Graduates of the UA Grantham Class of 2025,

On behalf of the administration, staff, and faculty of UA Grantham, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to you. The credential you earned this year is a truly significant milestone in your life's journey.

It takes dedication, perseverance, and sacrifice to reach this point. And so, your certificate or diploma is more than a piece of paper. It represents countless hours of study, difficult assignments overcome, and a commitment to your future. You have invested in yourselves, and that mindset will always yield powerful returns.

Many of you chose to pursue higher education for deeply personal and compelling reasons, and you now realize those goals: your degree is a key that unlocks new doors, providing you with a competitive advantage in your career and expanding your potential for professional growth and leadership.

In many cases, your achievement set a precedent. One of our graduates, echoing the words of so many of you, said "to be the first in my entire family from parents to my sibling to my own children to graduate college is a wonderful feeling". And you are showing the way: "I wanted to set the example for my children that if I could achieve this, they can too". In doing so, you have become an inspiration to your children, siblings, and community.

We know your journey was neither traditional nor easy. For those who doubted you, and perhaps for the doubts you overcame within yourselves, this is your victory. "All the 'educational figures' I had growing up told me I would never be nothing. I wanted to prove to them I am worth it, and I will make it" was one of the most poignant testimonials we received this year. We hope that your takeaway is a firm belief in yourself: You took on a challenge, and you saw it through.

We are equally in awe when you share with us stories of the people that encouraged you along the way: "My daughter reminded me that my efforts set an example of perseverance"; "My wife believed in me even when I doubted myself"; "They believed in me and that made me believe even more in myself"; "My husband pushed me when I thought I had nothing else to give"... And so we add our thanks to all those that supported you in your journey.

As you turn the page and step into your next chapter, we invite you to stay in touch with us through our social media channels. And we encourage you to spread the word about your experience at UA Grantham: It is now your turn to be the one giving the gentle nudge, the push, that frank feedback someone needs to hear.

Finally, I ask that you use the knowledge and character you built as a force for good in the world. Lead with integrity, serve your communities with compassion, and always strive for excellence in everything you do.

We are incredibly proud of the Class of 2025. Go out there and make your mark!

With great admiration,

Lindsay Bridgeman

2025 Summer Award Recipients

Outstanding Graduate Christina Self

Christina Self is the Associate Director of Customer and Consumer Care at Tyson Foods, Inc., where she has worked for over 25 years. She and her husband John have two beautiful daughters, one granddaughter, and a lovably goofy French Bulldog. In April 2025, she earned a bachelor's degree in strategic communication from the University of Arkansas Grantham, graduating summa cum laude with a 3.97 GPA in just three years.

During her studies at UA Grantham, Christina sharpened the communication and emotional intelligence skills that would become instrumental in her career growth. Within three years, she earned two promotions, directly supported by her education, which helped her become a better leader, navigate complex challenges, and drive meaningful results across her teams.

Christina credits her success in completing this goal to her Tyson Foods family that has amazing leaders encouraging her and offers amazing benefits for furthering education. She also credits her husband, John, who did all the heavy lifting allowing her to stay focused and complete the degree in only three years.

In a world where strong communication and adaptability are essential, Christina stands as proof that continuing education is a powerful tool for transformation.

Outstanding Faculty Bill Williams

Bill Williams, the recipient of UA Grantham's Outstanding Faculty Award, is a caring and inspirational educator within the College of Business. He enjoys meeting students where they are on their educational journey and facilitating their success. He optimizes the student experience by creating an environment of trust and respect where students can be vulnerable and collaborate.

Bill joined UA Grantham in 2009 and has earned his MBA from the University of Colorado and his BS in Electrical Engineering from Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology. He is a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt and Project Management Professional.

Graduate Gaspar Orts, Bachelor of Business Administration, said "Bill Williams inspires not only students in education, but also in life. His feedback and the one-on-one conversations, were of incredible value as both a student and a person. A very interpersonal instructor who cares greatly for his students, and would also take the time to guide us each and every step of the way."

Student Service Tim McKinney

With over seven years in higher education, Tim is passionate about supporting students on their path to achieving their academic goals. Working in financial aid allows him to play a key role in helping students navigate what can often be one of the biggest hurdles—financing their education. He takes pride in partnering with them through this process and helping match them with the right financial resources. Being part of the university's success and contributing to each student's journey is incredibly rewarding. What motivates him most is knowing that the work we do makes a real difference in their ability to reach both academic and personal milestones.

Tim has been with UA Grantham for four years. He has earned Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Business Administration from Delta State University in Cleveland, MS, and a master's in public administration from Belhaven University in Jackson, MS.

2025 Winter Award Recipients

Outstanding Graduate Daniel Lorey

Daniel Lorey is an active-duty military service member who has remained committed to professional and academic growth while serving full time. Beginning his educational journey in October 2022, he earned an Associate of Arts in Criminal Justice and a Bachelor of Business Administration in Logistics and Supply Chain Management from the University of Arkansas Grantham. He is currently enrolled in the Master of Business Administration program with a concentration in Project Management.

While serving on active duty, Daniel successfully balanced the demands of military service with rigorous academic coursework. His education strengthened his skills in leadership, logistics planning, problem-solving, and organizational management competencies he applies daily in operational environments. The flexibility and support offered by UA Grantham enabled him to progress academically without compromising mission readiness, allowing him to translate theory into real-world application within high-pressure settings.

Through his educational achievements, Daniel has become a strong advocate for lifelong learning, particularly within the military community. He encourages fellow service members to pursue higher education as a means of enhancing career mobility, leadership effectiveness, and long-term professional success.

Outstanding Faculty Julia "Julie" Croly, MPA, CPC, CPC-P, CPC-I

Julia "Julie" Croly has worked in the health insurance arena for over 30 years. Throughout her career, she has supported a wide range of functions, including Actuarial, Underwriting, Provider Relations, Fraud and Abuse, Compliance, and Health Economics.

Currently working as a healthcare consultant, her focus is on health information technology and medical billing and coding. For several years, she served as an adjunct medical coding professor at colleges in North Carolina and Hawaii. She has also been teaching at the University of Arkansas Grantham for 16 years.

Julie has been actively involved with the American Academy of Professional Coders (AAPC), serving on its National Advisory Board from 2007–2011. She has authored numerous articles on ICD-10-CM and has contributed to various medical coding publications.

She is a graduate of Michigan State University and the University of Michigan and resides in Venice, Florida, and Charlotte, North Carolina.

Student Service Sara Phillips

Sara has been with UAG for 4.5 years and has a master's degree in social work. "My favorite part of the job is hands-down the students! I love being a part of their journey and seeing them take those big steps toward their goals and their education."

Sara Phillips is a transformative advisor who truly excels in her role. She not only performs her duties but sets a gold standard for student service through her tireless effort, empathetic communication, and deep investment in each student's journey.

"Sara has helped tremendously with my journey into the college life. Sara has made me feel welcome, and more relaxed about the thirty year gap in my education. I couldn't think of a person more deserving of this award." Curtis S., Bachelor of Science in Engineering Management Technology

"It is a privilege to nominate Sara Phillips for this award. Her dedication to excellence is evident in her consistent performance; she frequently ranks at the top of our department's metrics and sets the standard for her peers. Beyond the numbers, Sara has cultivated a stellar reputation not only within her immediate team but across the entire department. She is a pillar of reliability—always present, engaged, and the first to volunteer when colleagues need support. She embodies the ideal team player."

 UA Grantham Graduate
Bachelor of Science in Health Information Management
 I am so excited that I was given the opportunity to earn my Bachelor's of Science degree in Health information management. UA Grantham, along with Arkansas Rural Health Partnership, provided the opportunity. UA Grantham with the online flexible schedule and Arkansas Rural Health Partnership provided the grant. I have worked in healthcare for 30+ years, earned many credentials in both AHIMA, as well as AAPC, and now can add a Bachelor's of Science to my resume - at 60 years of age. I am forever grateful for the freedom and flexibility of UA Grantham as well as the instructor and advisors.

Being on active duty is extremely hard while also attending school. It's a balance with family, as well.

This triangle has allowed me to navigate to a degree and expand my educational path, which I not only benefit from, but my family and military career does, as well. This has been a journey, but it doesn't stop here. I plan to continue with UAG [for my next degree].

In 2012, after ensuring my four children completed their education, I finally pursued my own. With years of leadership experience from McDonald's and the military, I knew formal education would refine my skills. Balancing work, family, and studies was challenging, but I embraced it. My MBA in Information Management deepened my understanding of how technology drives business success. This journey wasn't just for me—it set an example for my children and grandchildren. Education has no age limit, and persistence pays off. Now, with my MBA, I'm ready to lead, innovate, and inspire in the next chapter of my career.

What a journey! I am so thankful for the opportunity that UAG provided! Sometimes it became difficult when juggling family time, a full time job and a very active 9 year old son! I know that I would not have been able to complete my degree by attending a classroom setting. Time constraints would have made it harder. Thank you UAG for providing the platform you do!

I have been working on this degree for almost eight years and it has changed three times from different schools and different degrees. I finally found one that piqued my interest enough to stick through it. With working full time and also traveling about 15 weeks a year for work it has had struggles and triumphs... Overall I am just glad to have spent the time to get it done and move on to the next chapter of my life!

Completing my degree has been a challenging yet rewarding journey. Balancing my parental responsibilities with my studies was tough, especially with little support. There were moments when I lost my way and struggled to stay focused, but I learned the value of resilience. A turning point for me was when a mentor offered sage advice: "Believe in yourself as much as you want your children to believe in you." That inspired me to reclaim my confidence. I developed a routine to balance studying and parenting, reminding myself that each small victory brought me closer to my goal. Ultimately, I pursued my degree not just for myself, but to set an example for my children.

I began my BS-EET program while on active duty in the military, serving as an instructor. A caveat of this assignment was learning a new occupational specialty that I'd soon be responsible for teaching. After two years of teaching, I left active duty, transferred to the Reserves, and started working at a Motorola-partnered service company—still pushing through coursework. Despite the constant change and many long nights, I'm proud to have finally earned my college degree!

My educational journey has been far from easy, but it has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. As the first in my family to earn a master's degree, I take great pride in breaking barriers and setting an example for my daughters. Balancing a full-time military career and fatherhood meant countless late nights and sacrifices, yet I remained committed to my goal.

Achieving this degree is not only the fulfillment of a dream but also proof that perseverance, sacrifice, and hard work truly do pay off.

My journey started when the Covid-19 pandemic began. During that time, I realized that if I wanted to further my career, I needed to get a degree. I started at Grantham to finish my associate degree, from there I have continued my academic career earning my bachelors and masters. UA Grantham's flexibility has made completing my degrees possible.
